REV. DR. STOCKING preaches at Detroit. He will be put in slippers, Christmas.

PROF. WATSON proposes to leave Ann Arbor University. Watson foot now, we wonder?

ONIONS sell for only a dollar a barrel in Orange County, N. Y. It's enough to bring tears to the farmer's eyes.

The head waters of the Nile have been discovered by an officer at Niles, Mich., who leveled on the Water-works for an unpaid claim.

WHAT case did Mr. Montgomery ever argue, what Judge did he ever address, or what jury did he ever face? Rise and explain, Mr. Montgomery.

AFTER all, the greatest crowds do not go to horse-races and base-ball games. Thirty thousand people attended a religious meeting of the Friends at Richmond, Ind., last week.

Those Chicagoans who hoped to see Simon, the murderous rag-picker, hang, are not going to be disappointed. He will hang around the Penitentiary for the next fourteen years.

The Marshal of Memphis, Mich., prints the names of the habitual drunkards on cards and distributes them among the saloon-keepers of the town. If the saloon-keepers sell them liquor after this official warning, they are prosecuted.

GEORGE WEBER is making a splendid canvass, and will be elected and make an excellent official. He is honest, competent, experienced and faithful. No man can say aught against him, and he will retire from the Sheriff's office with his good name untainted. His German friends to a man are rallying to his support. They have not forgotten that a German was fairly nominated for this place on the Democratic ticket and was swindled out of it by a trick. They will repudiate that way of doing things by voting for George Weber.

Mr. Goss loses ground every time he makes a speech. His only hope of getting any large portion of the strength of his party lay in his keeping as quiet as possible and letting people in the Second District go on and vote the ticket without thinking much about who the candidate for Congress is. There is a lurking suspicion that Tom Young's friends have been setting it up to have Goss canvass the district. Every time he appears to address a crowd workmen are reminded that he represents the elements that are strongest in their opposition to men who have to earn a living by their own labor. His principal business as an attorney is his connection with the contractors, and the men who do the work know well enough that no change in the system of doing public work will ever be made to their advantage with the attorneys of the contractors in the halls of legislation. The workingman who votes for Goss votes to keep his own wages down to the lowest possible sum, that the contractor's profits may be as large as possible.

A highly indignant father wrote a letter to the New York Sun, calling attention to the fact that his boys were expelled to whistle in the Public School during the singing lesson, and insisting that he did not want his children to learn the minstrel business. It seems that the boys for the last ten years have been permitted, but not compelled, to whistle instead of sing, when it was discovered that they had a taste for the former but no voice for the latter, and that frequently boys who would have made outrageous singers have developed into scientific and accomplished whistlers. We have not yet heard of the introduction of whistling as a fine art in any of the Western schools, but there is ample need for it, as a good whistler is rarely met with. The advantages for cultivating that study would be in favor of the West as green persimmons, which could be brought into service for their puckering qualities, grow here in abundance.

We desire all workmen in this city to understand that the fight on Mr. Hopper and in favor of Mr. Zumstein was because of Mr. Hopper's vote to give a contract for advertising to the STAR instead of the Times, when the STAR bid was twenty per cent. lower, and the STAR was clearly entitled to the contract under the law. According to the phase which the affair has taken by the course of the Times people, we are forced to conclude that Mr. Zumstein would have voted the contract to the Times, even at the higher price. This is as much the affair of every workman in the city as ours. The STAR employs the best of workmen and pays the established prices for its composition. The Times does not, but is set up by boys, jacks of all trades, and such persons as can be caught up at any price that the proprietors can make for them. Such a concern is not likely to be able to make a low bid where the work of the printer is the principle thing to be considered, for its low priced men are too expensive to be brought in square competition with workmen of the best class, who understand their business and are paid the established price for their labor. The fight against Mr. Hopper means illegal contracts for public work at a big price, to help this crusade against a fair equivalent for a day's work.

PERSONALS ABOUT LADIES.

The Queen of Italy is the handsomest woman in Europe.

Mrs. Boss, the lecturer, says "few happy wives are among the aspirants for suffrage."

Madame Ristori is going to organize a company and travel through Europe, giving her first representation in Paris.

May Bowers, Mrs. D. P. Bowers' daughter, is said to pose prettily, and that is about half the dramatic battle now-a-days.

Mrs. A. T. Stewart has thus far succeeded in keeping herself convinced that she hasn't a relative on earth who is entitled to any share of the property left to her.

Miss Kellogg says "there is no contralto in London who has the voice of Annie Louise Cary." Let us see. Doesn't Miss Cary sing with the Kellogg troupe this season?

Miss Carrie Walker, a young Tennessean, who as an educationist is already well known South and West, will shortly make her first appearance on the stage in Philadelphia.

Miss Annis Montague is the "Mignonette" in "The Chimes." Sweet name, isn't it? Here's her other and real one: Mollie Cook. Mollie was born in the Sandwich Islands, and a rich Baltimore uncle paid for her musical education.

Miss Harriet Hosmer and Miss Annie Brewster are described as going down to the South for the winter. Miss Brewster is the author of the interesting article on Charlotte Cushman in a recent number of Blackwood.

Miss Florence Nightingale is now sixty years old, and lives in London almost a prisoner to her room, so ill is she. Once a year she takes her widowed mother to Derbyshire. She wrote lately in a letter to a friend: "Overworked as I am, my health is necessarily bad. Thank God, who still gives me work to do for him."

Queen Christina has left a fortune amounting to 8,000,000 francs, which will be exclusively inherited by the children of her marriage with the Duke of Rianzaros, the succession having been thus previously arranged between the deceased Queen and her two other daughters, viz., Queen Isabella and the Duchess de Montpensier.

Queen Victoria travels in a railway carriage which cost $30,000. A correspondent of The Chicago Times says that its windows are shaded with green silk curtains trimmed with costly white lace, its ottomans are covered with cream colored silk, embroidered with the royal arms and monogram in purple and gold, and a carpet which cost over $500 covers the floor.

Scenaria Rosa Freyre, daughter of the late Peruvian Minister to this country, left a will, which has just been admitted to probate in Washington. She gives in large sums to several Catholic institutions in that city, names amounts to be applied in masses for her soul and that of her father, and leaves the rest of her estate to her sister and half-sisters.

Lucey Coburn, a pretty young woman, had her entire scalp torn off by machinery in New Milford, Conn. She was brought to a New York Hospital, and there the tedious process of grafting on her head a new scalp was successfully ended a few days ago, and she has returned to her home. The new scalp was composed of minute bits of skin, twelve thousand being used, taken from the arms of the Hospital Surgeons, and put on carefully one at a time. One Surgeon supplied more than a thousand of them.

The Gush of His Friends.

To the Editor of the Star: "Save me from my friends!" is finding an application in the eulogistic squibs of an evening contemporary on the high order of legal ability that Mr. Montgomery would bring to the Probate bench. The average attorney of the Cincinnati bar "smoke aenie" he read the following in Sunday's Times: "There has been no time when that office entered into a campaign that lawyer more competent, a gentleman more popular than Mr. Montgomery, has stood for the position. In his address he is courteous and cordial; in his legal standing one of the first at the bar. He will administer the affairs of the Probate Court with an understanding and clear judgment, surpassed by none of his predecessors." Mr. Montgomery undoubtedly blushed as he read it. As the query made some months ago, asking for any case he was ever known to have tried, remained unanswered, Mr. Montgomery should certainly be commended before he again placed in such an unpleasant attitude before the people.

Witness Fees.

W. S. Cappeller, County Auditor, has addressed the following communication to the Clerk of the Police Court:

"COUNTY AUDITOR'S OFFICE. "Samuel Smiley, Esq., Clerk of Police Court: "DEAR SIR—After the legal opinions of the Attorney General and the County Solicitor, and upon conference with the Honorable Board of County Commissioners, the said Board have appropriated $1,000, subject to the approval of the Board of Control, for the payment of witness fees in cases of felony only. If said allowance be approved by the Board of Control, which meets on the 4th inst., then all such certificates in felony cases will be paid at this office.

As to witness fees in cases of misdemeanor, I am advised by the County Solicitor to pay only such witness as appear in cases of misdemeanors arising under State law. All other misdemeanors, arising under city ordinance, &c., will be rejected. I respectfully suggest that you have two forms of certificates—one for each of the above—prepared, so that this office may properly distinguish the separate funds.

Very respectfully, "W. S. CAPPELLER, County Auditor."

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much for fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way, and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors, or using so much of the live humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes you the greatest of all simple pure remedies. Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read of it in another column.

YELLOW FEVER.

Another Case—Official Statement—Contributions for the Sufferers.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Armstrong, clerk on one of the boats plying between this place and Evansville, Ind., was found to be seriously ill, and as the boat was then at our wharf, two of the District physicians were summoned, who pronounced the case one of yellow fever, though a mild attack. The wife of the patient being at Evansville, he was sent to that place on his boat, which left in the evening. How Mr. Armstrong contracted the disease is a mystery, since he has not been further south than Evansville.

Following is an official statement from Health Officer Minor relative to the number of imported cases of yellow fever now in this city:

Seiden, German Presbyterian Sunday-school, $4 81; Beckey Club, $25; Saloon-keepers of the Fifteenth Ward, $23 80; Miss Jennie Deaton, $1 25.

MORE FUNDS NEEDED.

From letters and telegrams received from the South, the Citizens' Committee is now of the opinion that it will need more funds before the epidemic and the consequent suffering end.

A. D. Finley, Esq., of New Orleans, and of the H. Ward as occasion, passed through the city last night on his way home from burying his mother.

Wm. Franz, bookseller and general news agent at Hickman, Ky., and well known to the trade in this city, died of yellow fever on the 21st ult., at his home in Hickman.

The Memphis Avalanche, in speaking of the return of two of the Cincinnati nurses, says: "Mrs. Lizzie Temple and Miss Emma Reeder, the two best nurses who came from Cincinnati four weeks ago, are now going back to-day for their home. They are both ladies of culture, and take with them the blessings of a grateful public."

Weston, and were in the year 1846, and later an additional purchase was made from Hendrick Immert. The Secretary was authorized to pay over the sum of $2,572 30 for the purchase of the Cemetery grounds, and to execute the present Cemetery. The number of burials during the month of September were six children in the private grounds and four in the public grounds. On closing his report the Secretary remarked that during the month of September not a single adult or grown person was interred in the private grounds, which is something unprecedented in the history of the cemetery.
